

Smartphones have made it incredibly easy to take photos. It's so easy to take photos that we end up taking hundreds of them and just about everything is photo-worthy. It's only when space on our devices starts to run out that we sit down to delete them and at that point, it becomes a task in itself. Meet PhotoTrash, an iOS app worth $0.99 in the app store that lets you delete photos by swiping left. The app uses Tinder-style gestures to review and delete photos. It's a brilliant app that will let you favorite photos, keep the ones you like, and remove the ones you no longer want.

Install the app and allow it access to your photos. It will list all your albums as well as the entire Camera Roll. Tap the album you want to delete photos from and review them one-by-one. To delete a photo, swipe left. To keep a photo, swipe right. To favorite a photo, tap it once.
