

Google pushed an update to its YouTube app yesterday without much fanfare. With the version 11 update comes a small, but incredibly useful tweak for users with tons of subscriptions: your previously watched videos now feature a “WATCHED” indicator in the top left of the video thumbnail. Previously, this feature showed up in other parts of the YouTube app but inexplicably was absent from the subscription tab. Now, Google has brought this tab in line with the rest of the app.

Read more